sick leave.
Secretary Case stated that last year a curtain was purchased for use at the high school auditorium, the senior class of 1920 given by the lyceum, covering the cost of the curtain. The senior class of 1921 is planning to give the samual senior play and as the Loomer opera house is not available desires to use the high school auditorium. If this is done, proper stage settings should be purchased. The senior class is to give a concert at the high school this month and money raised will help pay for the setting. The lyceum is also to alse by voting a sum of money. The setting would dot about $230 and it was desired that the school committee aid in purchasing the setting if money raised by the students did not reach the required sum. It was voted to refer the matter to the

THE STRAND. A picture that will excite more than passing comment will be shown at the Strand theatre today. Friday and Sat-gray. It is a visualization of Anna Sewell's famous novel, Black Beauty. The film is one of the most unique to be afished upon the screen. It marks a new era of story telling, that of bleeding two narratives into one and at the same time keeping each story separate from the other. This feat, which several have the other. This feat, which several have attempted and failed has been achieved by Lillian and George Randolph Chester, authors of international reputs.

Anna Sewell's story was that seen by the horse. It hinted at things that were going on in the big house, but which Biack Beauty could not know. Mr. and Mrs. Chester have supplied the inside story after carefully analyzing Anna Sewell's narrative. They made this coincide with the original tale in every instance so that the two blended into one and the with the original tale in every instance so that the two blended into one and the reason for the Squire going to town of the rainy day in which the bridge was swept away is made clear. It also shows why the family went to the hete the night the stables took fire and Black Beauty had a thrilling escape. Every instance in the stables took fire and Elect the night the stables took fire and Elect the stables took fire and Elect the stables the st leastly had a tarilling escape. Every incident in Anna Sewell's story is illustrated in the picture and is in ne way subordinated to the new narrative.

The film was directed by David Smith, famed as the director of hig pictures in which animals have important roles. He is one of the best animal directors in the business. A large and expensive case was engaged for the production and headed by Jean Paige.

The leading feminine role requires much of the young star and is considered far more difficult than a dual role, as far more difficult than a dual role, as she must portray the character from the age of thirteen to nineteen years. James Morrison, who plays opposite Miss Palge has an equally difficult role. The cast includes such well known names as George Webb, Bobby Mack, John Step-pling, Adele Farrington and Charles Mor-rison.

On the same programme will be a The $10,000 Brids. This is an entire change of programme with new songs costumes, dancing and comedy. There will be positively no change of prices for this mammoth bill. The Black Reauty in itself is well worth more than the price of admission. Here is a chance for every mother to let her child see a picture which is both wholesome and educational.

BREED THEATRE.

Colorado, a photodrama from the fa-mous stage play of the same name by Augustus Thomas, will be the principal attraction at the Breed theatre today. The Universal screen offering furnishes a starring vehicle for Frank Mayo, who was last seen in Honor Bound and Tiger True, two of, his recent productions. In its theme Colorado follows closely the stage success, but with modern and highly dramatic variations introduced by Reeves Eason, the director.
